

I am the parent of a profoundly deaf child. He requires captioning for access to programming. Without it, it is like turning the volume down to the level one cannot understand what is being said. Deaf and Hard of Hearing consumers are entitled to equal access as non-disabled consumers. Captioning must be upheld.